Update following rating upgrade

Summary

Landesbank Baden-Wuerttemberg (LBBW)'s Aa2 deposit and senior unsecured debt ratings reflect the bank's baa2 Baseline Credit Assessment (BCA), two notches of rating uplift from its membership in Sparkassen-Finanzgruppe's (S-Finanzgruppe, Aa2 stable, a2<sup>1</sup>) institutional protection scheme (IPS), three notches of rating uplift from our Advanced Loss Given Failure (LGF) analysis to its liabilities, which incorporates the relative loss severity of a liability class; plus a one-notch rating uplift resulting from government support, given its membership in systemically relevant S-Finanzgruppe.

LBBW's baa2 BCA reflects the improvement in the bank's pre-provision income generation capacity but also the emerging credit risks in the bank's concentration risks in commercial real estate (CRE) loans as well as LBBW's exposure to the strained German economy. At the same time, the BCA incorporates the bank's sustained sound capitalisation, which provides LBBW with headroom to withstand continued adverse economic developments. The BCA also takes into account LBBW's elevated market funding dependence, which remains significant despite the bank's access to funding from the savings bank sector and development banks. LBBW's ample liquid resources continue to provide a strong mitigant against potential funding challenges.

Exhibit 1
Rating Scorecard - Key financial ratios

Sources: Company filings and Moody's Ratings

Credit strengths

- » Low problem loan ratio, despite weakening asset quality in the real estate sector.
- » High coverage ratio and solid capitalisation, which provide a substantial buffer against downside risks.
- » Sound liquidity balances and access to savings bank sector funding.

Credit challenges

- » Risk concentrations in cyclical sectors, primarily CRE, as well as substantial exposures to energy-intensive industries.
- » Subdued profitability and efficiency metrics in an international context.
- » Significant dependence on confidence-sensitive capital market funding.

Outlook

The stable outlook reflects the stable outlook of S-Finanzgruppe. The stable outlook further incorporates the rating agency's expectation of a broadly unchanged liability structure.

Factors that could lead to an upgrade

- » An upgrade of LBBW's long-term ratings could be triggered by an improvement in the financial strength of S-Finanzgruppe.
- » LBBW's junior senior unsecured and subordinated ratings could also be upgraded if LBBW were to issue higher volumes of junior senior unsecured (in the case of junior senior debt only), subordinate or preferred shares liabilities than we currently expect.
- » An upgrade of LBBW's BCA could result from a sustained improvement in the bank's financial profile, in particular an improved business diversification and reduced sector concentration risks, higher capital ratios along with a further strengthening of the bank's earnings.

Factors that could lead to a downgrade

- » LBBW's ratings would be downgraded following a downgrade of the Adjusted BCA, either as a result of a deterioration in the financial strength of S-Finanzgruppe or caused by a significantly weaker BCA of LBBW. Further, a shift in the liability structure towards non-bail-in-able instruments, such that it increases the loss severity for a respective debt class and results in reduced rating uplift from our Advanced LGF analysis could exert downwards ratings pressure.
- » LBBW's BCA could be downgraded in case of a sharp decline in its asset quality, particularly if CRE markets underperformance leads to a more pronounced problem loan formation than the rating agency currently anticipates. LBBW's BCA could also be downgraded in case of a concurrent decline in capitalization and profitability, and a deterioration of the bank's combined liquidity profile.

Profile

LBBW is a German universal bank, providing retail and commercial banking, leasing, factoring, asset management, real estate, capital market, and equity and project finance services, either directly or through its subsidiaries. The LBBW Group comprises LBBW, the regional client bank BW-Bank, and, since 1 July 2022, the CRE lender Berlin Hyp AG (Berlin Hyp; Aa2 stable, Aa2 stable, ba1<sup>2</sup>). As of 31 December 2023, the group reported consolidated assets of €333.3 billion and employed 10,434 staff. The bank is designated an "other systemically important institution" (O-SII) by the German regulator BaFin, because of its relatively high interconnectedness and complexity.

The owners of LBBW (Träger) are the Savings Bank Association \(Sparkassenverband\) of Baden-Wuerttemberg (Aa3 stable<sup>3</sup>) with a stake of 40.5%, the Land of Baden-Wuerttemberg (25.0%; Aaa stable<sup>4</sup>), the state capital of Stuttgart (18.9%) and Landesbeteiligungen Baden-Wuerttemberg (15.5%), the latter also being an entity of the Land of Baden-Wuerttemberg.

For more information, please see LBBW's most recent Issuer Profile, our German Banking System Outlook and our Banking System Profile Germany.

Weighted Macro Profile of Strong (+)

We derive the Strong (+) Weighted Macro Profile of LBBW from its regional net exposures, which takes into consideration the gross market value of loans to customers and credit commitments, net of collateral, credit risk hedges and netting agreements. As of 31 December 2023, Germany (Aaa stable<sup>3</sup>), which has a Strong \(+\) Macro Profile, accounted for 68% of net exposures, while European net exposures outside of Germany represented 19%. North America and Asia-Pacific contributed a further 8% and 3% to net exposures, respectively, while other international exposures accounted for the remaining 2%. The exposure-weighted average of the German and respective regional macro profiles results in a Strong (+) Weighted Macro Profile for LBBW.

Detailed credit considerations

Solid asset risk profile, despite concentrations in higher-risk sectors and market risk

We assign a baa2 Asset Risk score, five notches below the aa3 initial score. The assigned score reflects primarily LBBW's exposure concentration to CRE lending, but also concentrations in cyclical corporate sectors, and the bank's market risk exposures stemming from its capital markets business.

The bank's risk concentrations in cyclical industries within its corporate loan and CRE book remain high and leave the bank vulnerable to the weak economic growth in Germany and potential structural shifts in the economy. Following the acquisition of Berlin Hyp, LBBW's CRE exposure represents more than four times the group's tangible common equity (TCE), which is a significant concentration to a highly cyclical sector.

Following sizable value corrections in the US CRE loan books of other German banks with large exposures, the performance and valuation of LBBW's US CRE loan book of €4.8 billion will be a particular watchpoint for 2024. While so far less pronounced, we also expect the pressure from high refinancing rates and an object-specific divergence in vacancy rates to materialize in some subsegments of European CRE, in particular within the office space.

Exhibit 5
LBBW's problem loan ratio and coverage levels remain strong, but have weakened in 2023

Problem loan ratio in accordance with our definition. Coverage ratio = Loan loss reserves/problem loans.

LBBW's capital ratios have been strong

Our assigned a2 Capital score is three notches below the aa2 initial score, reflecting the bank's elevated leverage, potential longer-term effects stemming from the implementation of the Basel III finalisation, and our expectation of further negative rating migrations in LBBW's CRE loan book.

LBBW has maintained strong risk-weighted capital ratios both on the basis of our preferred measure, the accounting-metrics based tangible common equity, and of the regulatory capital ratios. We expect these to remain well above regulatory requirements, even as the finalisation of Basel III with the gradual increase of an output floor for internal model based risk weights relative to standardized approach results will drive up LBBW's risk-weighted assets (RWA).

LBBW's total assets are subject to pronounced seasonality effects, with the year-end balance sheet size typically marking the low point within the year. Accordingly, LBBW's leverage ratio usually declines on interim reporting dates, to levels not significantly above 4%. The bank's regulatory Tier 1 leverage ratio benefits from the inclusion of €750 million of low-trigger Additional Tier 1 capital issued in November 2019, which has a first optional call date in April 2025.

Exhibit 6
LBBW's strong risk-weighted capital ratios coincide with elevated leverage, a result of low pre-Basel 3.1 risk-weighted asset density.

Profitability has improved in the higher interest rate environment

We assign a ba3 Profitability score, one notch below the initial score. The assigned score considers both the bank's improving pre-provision results trend supported by a higher interest rate environment and our expectation that the weak operating environment will prompt an increase in problem loans. At the same time, future loan loss provisioning needs will be cushioned by the bank's ample buffer of management overlay reserves set aside mainly in anticipation of yet unrecognised problem loan formation.

Rising interest rates have been a positive for LBBW's profitability, but a more adverse credit environment could offset some of the gains in 2024 and beyond. While LBBW has a generally sound history of low credit losses, the weak domestic economic outlook, sustained high energy prices and the structural challenges facing the automotive industry, could result in high loan loss provisions in the years to come. In combination with rising investments in digital banking services and infrastructure, there will likely be persistent pressure on the bank's profitability despite efforts to control costs.

LBBW's model adjustment reserves grew to €929 million as of year-end 2023, which is a multiple of the €254 million of loan loss provisions booked in 2023 (2022: €239 million) and which themselves contained a model adjustment add-on of €107 million.

Funding profile supported by access to savings bank sector funding

We assign a ba2 Funding Structure score, which is two notches above the b1 initial score. The upward adjustment reflects that LBBW's market funds ratio contains development bank funding, as well as sector funding. Development bank funding generally matches the profile of the bank's pass-through loans and sector funds also do not represent a confidence-sensitive market funding source.

LBBW benefits from good access to stable funding resources provided for example through deposit placements and bond investments by regional savings banks (and their retail clients), as well as its own retail client base, the strong covered bond franchises of LBBW and Berlin Hyp, access to development bank loans<sup>7</sup> and central bank funding. However, the bank also relies on more confidence-sensitive funding sources, such as interbank, money market, bond, and promissory note funding, as well as institutional client deposits, which exposes the bank to refinancing risks in a more adverse market environment. In addition, LBBW's large derivatives book, and the related risk of volatile collateralisation requirements, creates funding risk for the bank.

LBBW's year-end 2023 regulatory Net Stable Funding Ratio of 109.7% was low in the context of its peers, but still had a satisfactory buffer to the 100% minimum requirement. The bank's available stable funds accounted for only about half of its total assets, which reflects the dominant role of short-term wholesale funding and limited role of retail deposits.

Exhibit 9
LBBW's funding structure relies to a significant extent on interbank lines and debt issuance
TLTRO drawings had temporarily inflated interbank borrowings

Market funding ratio = Market funds/tangible banking assets.

Ample liquidity is a strong mitigant for market funding risks

We assign an a2 Liquid Resources score, two notches below the aa3 initial score. The downward adjustment reflects asset encumbrance and level 3 fair-value and trading assets, which we exclude from our initial calculation of liquid banking assets. This is partly offset by LBBW's overcollateralised cover pools, which the bank could use to source additional liquidity at short notice.

Together with LBBW's diversified funding mix, the bank's ample liquidity reserves provide it with significant flexibility in a more adverse market environment, not only mitigating potential funding challenges, but also supporting the bank's growth strategy because it provides sufficient flexibility to transform the liquid resources into higher-yielding lending assets.

LBBW could generate additional liquidity through the issuance of covered bonds. LBBW group operates a total of four covered bond programs. Whereas Berlin Hyp has run these with no meaningful overcollateralization buffers, the mortgage and public-sector covered bond programs of LBBW had joint voluntary overcollateralization above legally required levels of more than €8 billion as of year-end 2023.

LBBW's regulatory Liquidity Coverage Ratio (LCR) has in comparison to the bank's peers been burdened by higher stressed outflows from other contingent and contractual obligations as well as from the bank's deposits, most of which have neither been sourced in the context of existing operational customer relationships nor from retail customers. Even so, LBBW improved its LCR to a sound level of 150.5% as of year-end 2023 from 144.2% a year before, mainly as a result of a growing emphasis on retail deposit gathering through its BW Bank retail and private banking network.

ESG considerations

Landesbank Baden-Wuerttemberg's ESG credit impact score is CIS-2

Exhibit 11

ESG credit impact score

Source: Moody's Ratings

LBBW's CIS-2 indicates that ESG considerations have no material impact on the current ratings. This reflects the mitigating rating impact of affiliate support from Sparkassen-Finanzgruppe (S-Finanzgruppe) over LBBW's ESG risk profile. Environmental and social factors have had a limited impact on the bank's credit profile to date. The bank's corporate governance risks mainly stem from the bank's subdued operational efficiency and concentration risks in its loan book, which are inherent to its business profile.

Exhibit 12

ESG issuer profile scores

Source: Moody's Ratings

Environmental

LBBW faces moderate exposure to environmental risks primarily because of its exposure to carbon transition risk as a large, mostly regional banking group. In line with its peers, LBBW is facing mounting business risks and stakeholder pressure to meet broader carbon transition goals. Carbon transition risks relate from LBBW's credit exposure to CO<sub>2</sub>-intensive sectors, e.g. automotive and energy. In response, LBBW is actively engaging in optimising its loan portfolio towards a targeted reduction of clients' carbon intensity, especially through the definition of science-based, sector specific CO<sub>2</sub>-reduction paths shared with clients. While accompanying its clients on the way to sustainable business models along this CO<sub>2</sub>-reduction path, LBBW tracks and discloses overall financed emissions.

Social

LBBW faces moderate social risks mainly related to customer relations as well as to demographic and societal trends. The bank's developed policies and procedures mitigate conduct risk associated with the distribution of financial products such as regulatory and reputational risks, as well as exposure to litigation. Continued investments in technology and the bank's long track record of handling sensitive customer data, as well as appropriate culture and governance that ensure adherence to regulatory standards, help to manage high cyber and personal data risks. LBBW operates mostly in Germany, which faces challenges from adverse demographic trends affecting long-term economic growth prospects and impacting the demand for certain banking products. Product diversity as well as an ability to adapt to consumer preferences, regulatory changes and societal trends such as digitization are key to address these risks.

Governance

LBBW's governance risks are moderate, reflecting higher concentration risk appetite inherent in its business model as a universal bank with a strategic focus on commercial real estate. Its strategy, risk management function and organisational structure are in line with industry practices. The bank's subdued profitability remains a concern because it provides only a limited buffer against adverse developments and limits the bank's capital generation capacity and, hence, growth prospects. Finally, as a public-sector bank, LBBW is owned by the federal state of Baden-Württemberg (40.5%) and the state capital of Stuttgart (18.9%), which is reflected in the composition of its board of directors, which also includes representatives from S-Finanzgruppe's regional savings bank association, the Sparkassenverband Baden-Württemberg, which owns the remaining 40.5%. Germany's developed institutional framework mitigates associated governance risks.

Support and structural considerations

Affiliate support

We believe that the probability of LBBW receiving cross-sector support has risen following the strengthening of the institutional protection scheme (IPS) of S-Finanzgruppe, whose statutes were updated earlier in 2024. The revised statutes result in a more rule-based IPS that implements an early intervention system with clearly identified triggers and timely escalation of decision-making steps as well as increased ex-ante funds over time, which, in our view, increase the likelihood and timeliness of support for LBBW. In our assessment, we considered the likelihood of support based on the new and improved governance structure of the IPS, the economic rationale to improve sector cohesion through swift and positive support decisions, and the capacity of the sector in different scenarios, including a situation in which a number of larger members require capital support concurrently.

Loss Given Failure (LGF) analysis

LBBW is subject to the EU Bank Recovery and Resolution Directive (BRRD), which we consider an Operational Resolution Regime. Thus, we apply our Advanced LGF analysis, using our standard assumptions.

Our LGF analysis indicates that LBBW's deposit and senior unsecured debt are likely to face extremely low loss-given-failure, resulting in a three-notch uplift from the bank's Adjusted BCA.

Government support

For member banks of S-Finanzgruppe we generally assume a moderate likelihood of government support for instruments ranking above junior senior unsecured, given the importance of the sector for financial system stability in Germany, resulting in one notch notch of uplift.

Methodology and scorecard

Methodology

The principal methodology we used in rating LBBW was Banks Methodology, published in March 2024.

About Moody's Bank Scorecard

Our Bank Scorecard is designed to capture, express and explain in summary form our Rating Committee's judgment. When read in conjunction with our research, a fulsome presentation of our judgment is expressed. As a result, the output of our scorecard may materially differ from that suggested by unadjusted accounting data alone (though it has been calibrated to avoid the frequent need for strong divergence). The scorecard output and the individual scores are discussed in rating committees and may be adjusted up or down to reflect conditions specific to each rated entity.

Because the funding from development banks will be available to LBBW irrespective of market conditions, given the development banks' status as quasi sovereign or sub-sovereign prime issuers in the capital markets, we do not deem development bank funding to represent confidence-sensitive market funding.
